12/9/25

1) My Thesis:

2) Opposition:

4) Rebuttal:

1. Restate op. claim
2. Assume it's true
3. "if true, then ___"
4. Conclude you're correct.

3) One Strong Opposition claim:

The creature is not human because it was assembled from many parts.

My opposition believes that creature is human because he feels sympathy and compassion. Let's assume it's true that having compassion makes you human. If this is true, then dolphins, which show compassion by their actions, must be human. Dolphins are not human, and therefore this idea is incorrect. Having compassion does not make the creature human.